I am running in Windows 10 Home Edition.
No, I am not using a proxy. I have used

GroupDocs.Conversion.Dump for.NET together with other.NET applications, and works fine. But with this application I get this error. Using the File & Database Quotas feature, I tried to change the max number of files in a single folder from 255 to 0. When I tried to create a new folder on my desktop, I got an error: The user name or password of the current user is not valid for this computer. I am using a Microsoft Account, which is my primary account. On my windows 10, I have set the limit of 4 accounts in File & Database Quotas section in Privacy Settings. This is the link to the related question: I tried any idea about this, but no success. Any idea? A: After some time I got the answer. In the case of Windows 10, when a user has a Microsoft Account in email, it is the same user that is in the 'accounts' in the
